ProSystem fx Tax
The 2010 Arizona Direct Debit Scan

An issue has been identified regarding Individual Arizona electronically-filed extensions. In limited cases, funds were withdrawn from the taxpayer's bank account when they should not have been. This occurred when FS and state codes were used to exclude the information from Arizona and there was an amount entered to specify the amount to withdraw. If FS/State codes were not used, or if multiple occurrences of the banking information were used and the last occurrence was coded to Arizona, no funds were improperly withdrawn. The Arizona Department of Revenue is working with individually affected taxpayers or their preparers who contact them regarding this issue.

This scan identifies affected Individual Arizona electronically-filed extensions.
